I interacted with the Indian University representatives, found the fair to be very informative and this fair has aided in helping Ananya to explore Liberal Arts as a possible course. This is the first time Indian universities were explored and we were happy to know that they have a lot more to offer than what is usually projected.

It was an enlightening experience to personally meet multiple university representatives from all around the world and it helped me to shortlist and better plan my universities and career options. Furthermore, it was very convenient to meet and get to know about these universities under one roof rather going to each one of them individually.
